Alexandria Gazette.

MONDAY EVENING, MAR. 27, 1905.

The Point of the Cape of Good Hope.
 Cape point, which terminates the mighty headland known as the Cape of Good Hope, consists of a towering promontory of sandstone, which rises from the sea to an altitude of 840 feet.
 At the base of this stands a big solitary column which is known as Vanco-da Gama's pillar. The lighthouse which here illuminates the meeting place of the Atlantic and Indian oceans is one of the most important and most useful of its kind. It is visible from a distance of thirty-six miles. The cliff scenery is wild and sublime, the rocks are magnificent, and the far reaching sea, with the fierce surf beating on the iron bound coast, is impressive. In the water directly beneath the cliff sharks are abundant. A traveler describing the scene says that on the occasion of his visit so numerous were the evil looking monsters that the sight as he descended the cliff was most unpleasant. A slip and a fall into the sea at this point would mean that the unfortunate would be torn instantly limb from limb by the ravenous brutes.

Chess and a Battleship.
 Admiral Charles E. Clark, who took the battleship Oregon around Cape Horn and into action at Santiago, owned his appointment as commander of that boat to his skill as a chess player. Captain Clark was at San Francisco in command of the gunboat Bennington. When ashore he spent much time in the chess room of the Mechanics' library, where he met some of the best players in the city. When the time came to appoint a man to command the Oregon, a friend of Clark's in the navy department at Washington put his name forward. "You should see that man play chess," said he and went on to describe his intense application and determination, adding, "And that's why I think he can bring the battleship around safely if any one can." Three hours later Clark received orders to assume command of the Oregon and take her at once to Cuban waters.—Argonaut.

The Nimble Paragraph.
 It is a most extraordinary thing that some of our most successful novelists cannot turn out a newspaper paragraph to save their lives. In most novels there is some page or other on a supposititious clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the events under narration, and in ninety cases out of a hundred the matter that makes up the "clipping" is most unreal. The truth of the matter is that all the training in the world will not enable a man to write in this manner unless he has been through the mill and had all the nonsense deleted by the remorseless subeditor. Our novelists do not have their manuscript hacked and chopped about by this skillful executioner, and their pseudo newspaper clippings are models of what the real thing is not.

The Turnpike Era.
 Between the years 1790 and 1840 innumerable plans were made for the creation of turnpikes in the United States. There had been one great success, the Lancaster turnpike in Pennsylvania, and then came countless other projects. In 1811 New York had 137 chartered roads, with a total length of 4,500 miles, and the sum required to build them amounted to $7,500,000. An era of canal digging and then of railroad building followed this period, but the canal promoters and railroad men had great difficulty in advancing their schemes. They were considered insane when they insisted that the mountains and plains could be conquered by these means of transportation.

Nature's Beauties.
 Character is fed largely through the eye and ear. The thousand voices in nature, of bird and insect and brook, the sighing of the wind through the trees, the scent of flower and meadow, the myriad tints in earth and sky, in ocean and forest, mountain and hill, are just as important for the development of a real man as the education he receives in the schools. If you take no beauty into your life through the eye or the ear your nature will be hard, juiceless, unattractive.—Success.

The Horsefly.
 The horsefly is the most cruel and bloodthirsty of the entire fly family. He is armed with a most formidable weapon, which consists of four lancets so sharp and strong that they will penetrate leather. He makes his appearance in June. The female is armed with six lancets, with which she bleeds both cattle and horses and even human beings.—Colman's Rural World.

Procrastination.
 "One of the greatest evils in life," said the elderly woman, "is procrastination."
 "I think so, too," replied the young married woman. "I don't see the sense of putting off your golden wedding anniversary till you are sixty or seventy years old."

Her Postscript.
 "Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife—Yours sincerely, Ethel Burrows." Then she added: "P.S.—On second thought, dear George, I will marry you. Do come up tonight and see your own true Ethel."

Buried Treasure.
 Medium—"I can tell you about a buried treasure. Patron—Please don't! My husband is always tooting that in my case. Medium—Does he know anything about a buried treasure? Patron —Yes; his first wife."

When a man dies, his widow begins to look for valuable papers. The only papers the average man has are receipted ice and coal bills.—Acheson Globe.

Reassuring a Visitor.
 "I don't see why you didn't want me to say anything about Miss Mizley's age, mamma," said Tommy, looking at the guest. "She doesn't look nearly so old as grandpa—ouch! Who's that a-pluchin' me on the laig?"
